Public transport users in Fitzgibbon, Carseldine and surrounding suburbs will benefit from improvements to Translink's Route 326 bus service from Monday, July 11.

With the route to be extended to start and finish at Carseldine station east (replacing Mustang Street in Bracken Ridge), customers will enjoy a number of benefits including:

- A regular bus service through Fitzgibbon for the first time
- Improved service timing
- Improved connections to train services

The extension of Route 326 will travel through the Fitzgibbon Chase development via Norris Road, Carselgrove Avenue and Lavender Place, before terminating at Carseldine station east.

It will provide Fitzgibbon residents with access to all-day public transport services for the first time, while also improving the service's reliability and intermodal connectivity via Carseldine station.
